RULES

- One player will draw something on the screen while the others have to guess what was drawn.
- The drawer will draw anything they desire and once they finish they will release ownership.
- The guessers will have to be quick to determine what was drawn and press the gain ownership button to mark down their answer.
- Each player chooses a unique pen color in order to identify who wrote or drew something.
- Drawings and answers will have to be put inside their dedicated area in order to be considered good.
